

Former Malibu Mayor Pamela Conely Ulich joins Douglas Elliman Malibu

Real estate agent and former Malibu Mayor Pamela Conely Ulich joined the Douglas Elliman Malibu team effective Oct. 1, concentrating on residential sales. Previously, she was an agent with Sotheby's.

A longtime city resident, Ulich also served as associate general counsel at both the Directors Guild of America and Screen Actors Guild (now SAG/AFTRA) and taught entertainment related courses at Pepperdine Law School, where she also served as a Moot Court Judge for the National Entertainment Moot Court competition.

"I am focusing on the sports and entertainment division at Douglas Elliman," Ulich told Surfside News. "This is my sixth year as a real estate agent and I am well aware that this sector is one of the only infusions into the Malibu economy."

For Ulich, being a real estate agent is an honored role.

"I want to serve members of our community and feel blessed and grateful to find people the most important thing in their lives — their home," she said. "I am here to help anyone and am excited to join Douglas Elliman now that Peter Hernandez, president, Western Region, has opened the Malibu office. We have a great team that is locally based and serves clients with an international reach."

Hernandez is equally excited that Ulich is joining the company.

"I met Pamela through our children and she wanted to help people with their real estate needs," Hernandez said. "We really like hiring smart, connected people and Pamela is so bright that hiring her is hiring Malibu royalty and Malibu loyalty."

Kristin Honold, one of Ulich's former real estate clients, discussed her acumen and professionalism.

"Pamela was one of the Realtors who helped me sell my property on Point Dume in Malibu and I highly recommend her as a skilled Realtor who, as a longtime Malibu resident, has a thorough understanding of the benefits and challenges of life in Malibu," Honold said. "Pamela was very pleasant to work with and she took me through all the documents, answered all my questions clearly and did not hesitate to personally hand-deliver documents back and forth when time was short."

Honold added, "I hold Pamela in high regard because she is a woman with many talents and high achievements."

These include not only Ulich's career as mayor, practicing as an attorney and a real estate agent, but also her co-founding the Malibu Task Force on Homelessness and working with Malibuites to defeat a proposed liquefied natural gas terminal off the coast of Malibu.
