Douglas Elliman has welcomed Hamptons power agent Martha Gundersen.

The veteran associate broker has been providing expertise to buyers and sellers in the Hamptons for more than a decade and has earned sales totaling well over $1 billion. She brings her team — including Dylan Huddleston and Rafal Trawicki — with her to Elliman's Bridgehampton office.

An Amagansett resident with a background in art and landscape design, she is very active in the community and supports numerous charities, including the World Wildlife Fund, The American Cancer Society, Women for Women International and Plan International.

“We are excited to welcome Martha Gundersen to the Douglas Elliman family. Her abundance of talent, experience, second-to-none work ethic and knowledge is the exact definition of a world-class broker,” said Todd Bourgard, senior executive manager of sales for the Hamptons.
